FEDERAL AGENTS JOIN SEARCH FOR INDIANA BANDITS

Recent Jail Breaks, Bank Robberies In State Get Action

Indianapolis, Oct. 25 (AP)—United States Department of Justice agents, scourge of kidnappers, today joined Indiana's war on a gang of fugitive convicts equipped with guns stolen from police stations and financed by $100,000 loot from bank robberies.

The government men entered the search immediately after two bank robberies in which gunmen obtained $74,783 in currency and bonds at Greencastle Monday, and $2,500 in cash and liberty bonds at South Bend yesterday.

Four In Each Robbery

Four men participated in each robbery, and witnesses of each identified some of the convict band as the holdup men.

Thirty-one bank robberies in Indiana since Jan. 1 have resulted in loss of $233,796, the Indiana Bankers Association announced.

Named by police as leaders of the gang which has terrorized several Indiana cities are Harry Pierpont and John Dillinger. Pierpont, convicted robber, was identified as the man who killed Sheriff Jess Sarber at Lima, Ohio, Oct. 12 in a raid on the jail to release Dillinger, held there on bank robbery charges. Dillinger also was hunted for a $24,800 robbery at Indianapolis, and was named by police as an outside plotter of the prison break.

QUESTION FOUR

Peoria, Ill., Oct. 25 (AP)—Four men and a woman seized early today in a raid on a Kankakee, Ill. beer tavern were being questioned this morning in connection with recent bank robberies at Laura, Cullom and Modesto, small towns near here. Police said they suspected one of the men of having taken part in the South Bend, Ind. bank robbery yesterday.

Led by Chief of Detectives Fred Montgomery of Peoria, a raiding party composed of Peoria and Kankakee county officers visited the tavern of Fred Trubair shortly after midnight. They took into custody Trubair and his bartender, Victor Stewell; John Butane and his wife, Stella, of South Bend, Ind., and Louis Baggett, 29, of Galesburg, Ill.

The five were brought here and locked up in the county jail for questioning.

Suspected Crimes

Montgomery later announced he had reason to believe that Baggett was one of the actual participants in the $3,000 robbery of the Western State bank at South Bend.

Montgomery said efforts would be made to identify Baggett as the bandit who a month ago helped up an automobile salesman near Chillicothe, Ill., and took his car.

The stolen automobile was later found at Slater, Mo., with 72 bullet holes in its body. It was identified as the one used in the robberies of the three banks near here.

Baggett also will be questioned in connection with the recent mail robbery at Effingham, Montgomery said.

INVESTIGATE BREAK

Indianapolis, Oct. 25 (AP)—Governor Paul V. McNutt disclosed today that trustees of the Michigan City penitentiary in their report on the investigation of the prison break of Sept. 26 recommended the dismissal of H. C. Claudy, Deputy Warden. The Governor said the recommendation of the trustees would be followed.

The report also recommended the dismissal of Albert Evans, Second Assistant Deputy, who was marched across the prison yard from the shirt factory to the main office by the band of ten convicts who fought their way out of the institution with smuggled weapons.

Claudy, who has been at the prison since 1909, was accused by the prison trustees of "gross neglect in his supervision of this institution."

Two Rockfordites Hurt In Accident

Chicago, Oct. 25 (AP)—Clarence Pottinger, 38-year-old Rockford, Ill., electrical engineer, was seriously injured and his companion, Ray Brown, also of Rockford, escaped unhurt when a northbound Indiana Harbor Belt Line freight train struck their automobile at the North Avenue crossing in suburban Melrose Park.

Pottinger, driver of the machine, was taken to the Elmhurst hospital where an examination disclosed a fractured left leg and numerous cuts and bruises. The automobile was dragged 100 feet on the plot of the locomotive and was demolished.

The two were returning from a visit to the World's Fair and told police they did not see the warning signal at the crossing. In the impact Brown was thrown clear of the wreckage.

Tale Of Mystery Ship In Fog Off California's Coast Told In Story Of Fatal Collision

Officers Of The Cruiser Chicago Tell Of Crash Tuesday

San Francisco, Oct. 25 (AP)—Tales of a mystery ship in the fog about Point Sur, 110 miles south of here, and death to three officers that came in the crash of the U. S. S. Chicago and the British freighter Silverpalm were told today by officers of the cruiser as it prepared to proceed to Mare Island Naval Yard to get a 40 foot hole in her port bow repaired.

The two ships collided at 8 A. M. yesterday while, Vice Admiral Harris Laning, Captain Manley Simons and Captain Herbert E. Kays said, the Chicago maneuvered to escape a "large freighter off our starboard side, which disappeared in the fog a few minutes later."

Hearing the whistle of the mystery ship off the starboard side, Captain Kays said he ordered the cruiser stopped. The fog lifted and "there she was, 800 or 900 yards off our starboard going in a direction that would cross our bows."

Appeared Out Of Fog

"I ordered the Chicago to go ahead," he said, "and then almost immediately there came another ship out of the fog on our port bow, close aboard and headed directly for the Chicago. I signalled for emergency full speed astern and tooted the whistle, but the approaching vessel crashed into the port bow just forward of No. 1 gun turret, which stopped her, cutting off our bow."

The Silverpalm crashed 18 feet deep into the cruiser, crushing nine staterooms. The freighter struck forward of the armour plate which forced the engine rooms. Three officers met their death and another was critically injured, as they struggled to answer the "collision call."

REGISTRATION ALL MACHINE GUNS IS PLAN

Department of Justice Considering Drastic Action

Washington, Oct. 25 (AP)—The Justice Department is giving serious consideration to the possibility of seeking to reinforce its anti-gangster drive with a presidential order requiring registration of all machine guns.

A memorandum has been prepared by the staff of Assistant Attorney General Keenan, who has been in charge of the campaign against kidnappers and racketeers. It explores the legal possibilities of the scheme.

Particular attention is given to the possibility of ordering the confiscation of all machine guns found in the possession of known gangsters, whether a particular violation of the law may be attached to them or not, as the basis for such action.

The legal backing for activities of this sort as well as registration order would lie in statutes providing for the protection of law enforcement officers.

Cooperation Concern Is After Location: Seeks Information

The industrial committee of the Dixon Chamber of Commerce is in receipt of numerous requests for locations for industries, many of these being received each week. This morning, Frank Stephan, chairman of the committee, received a request for information for the possible location of a whiskey barrel factory in Dixon. The writer of the letter requested the local Chamber to forward information concerning the possible location of such an industry here.

Dixon has several buildings which could easily be made serviceable for a cooperage shop, and there is a wealth of oak timber in this section from which the slabs could be procured.

Electric Output Of Week Is Stationary

New York, Oct. 25 (AP)—Electric power output last week remained at about the same level as in the previous week, but the increase over the corresponding period last year narrowed to 5.9 per cent against a rise of 7.4 per cent for the week ended October 14.

Output, as reported by the Edison Electric Institute, amounted to 1,618,795,000 kilowatt hours against 1,618,948,000 in the preceding week and 1,528,145,000 in the same week last year. For this period in 1932 and 1931 production gained over the previous week.

The percentage rise over 1932 was the smallest since early in the summer. The central industrial region's improvement was 9.2 against 9.9.

Funeral Of James Lawler Tomorrow

The funeral of James Lawler, whose death at Eldena was recorded in last evening's Telegraph, will be held at St. Patrick's Catholic church Thursday morning at 9:30 o'clock, with burial in Oakwood cemetery.

LINDY IN SCOTLAND

Inverness, Scotland, Oct. 25 (AP)—Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh arrived here this afternoon after a flight from Galway, Irish Free State.

CHAS. G. SMITH, PIONEER DIXON MAN, IS CALLED

Successful Business In City

Charles G. Smith, pioneer plumber and steamfitter of Dixon, passed away at his home, 712 First street at noon today after an illness of some duration. Funeral arrangements had not been completed this afternoon and they, together with a more complete obituary notice, will be published later.

Mr. Smith was born in the state of New York, April 4, 1847, being the youngest of ten children. He was brought west by his parents in 1859 when they purchased land in Vermillion and Bureau counties, and he received his education in the Dixon schools, later learning the milling trade, an occupation members of his mother's family (the Beckers) had followed for generations.

Ran Several Mills

He later joined his brother, Nathan T., in the publishing business in Chicago, remaining there until 1876 when he returned to Dixon to resume his former occupation. Shortly afterwards he went to Kansas, from which state he returned in 1880 to take charge of a mill where he remained until 1886. He again went to Kansas in that year where he conducted a mill at Great Bend, and he also built a mill in Stafford county, Kansas, which he later sold.

He then went to Las Vegas, N. M., where he built and operated a mill and also conducted an agency for George Westinghouse, remaining thus employed until 1890, when he returned to Dixon and established a successful heating and plumbing business, which flourished for many years.

Frost Affected Only Tender Vegetation

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 25 (AP)—Frost, during the week ending yesterday affected only tender vegetation, the Illinois crop bulletin said today, but wet weather delayed corn husking to some extent although harvesting is not behind schedule.

E. W. Holcomb, meteorologist, reported that sowing of winter wheat is generally well advanced, with stand and progress good. Most of the soy bean crop has been cut, but wet weather in some areas is delaying stacking and threshing.

Former Dixon Man Died Last Evening

E. H. Hughes, former Palmyra township farmer and later associated in the Hughes & Drew implement firm in Dixon, passed away at his home, 5756 Kenmore Ave., Chicago, last evening, according to word received by Dixon and Polo friends this morning. Funeral services will be held in Chicago Friday morning.

RELIEF WHEAT PURCHASES ARE 6,800,500 TOTAL

Bids Asked Today On 15,000,000 Lbs. Canned Beef

Washington, Oct. 25 (AP)—The Federal Surplus Relief Corporation up to today has purchased 6,800,500 bushels of wheat of which 700,500 bushels is cash wheat.

Announcement of the purchase of wheat by the Relief Administration was made at Harry L. Hopkins, Administrator, had asked for bids on 15,000,000 pounds of canned beef to be distributed to the needy.

The purchases of wheat the administration said, included 5,000,000 bushels of December futures and 1,000,000 bushels of May futures.

The relief administration said the Farm Credit organization, which is buying the wheat, declined to announce how much wheat is to be purchased.

It was learned unofficially, however, that large purchases are likely to be made during the next few months as the wheat is needed for relief purposes. The Relief Administration said it was buying flour from time to time and will continue to do so if its supply of wheat proves insufficient.

A new novel, hailed alike in America and Europe, only sold 389 copies in its first two months of publication.

Enthusiasm Of New York Cops To Take Course In English Is Getting Bronx Cheer From Many

New York, Oct. 25 (AP)—The sudden enthusiasm of some policemen for the study of English got nothing but the Bronx cheer today from certain low elements of the metropolis.

"So the cops are going to have a school to learn how to talk nice and pretty," sneered one gentleman who, boy and man, has known policemen in and out of jail and up one alley and down another going on 25 years. "It's a little laugh at their expense."

"What's the correct English, for instance, for 'scram'?" "That's a swell five letter word meaning to 'blow' or 'beat' it."

TEN GOVERNORS OF FARM STATES CALLED TO MEET

Asked To Des Moines On Monday To Decide On Activities

Des Moines, Ia., Oct. 25 (AP)—Gov. Clyde Herring announced today that he has called a conference of governors of ten farm states to open at the State House here at 9:30 A. M., next Monday.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 25 (AP)—Governor Floyd B. Olson was notified today by Gov. Clyde Herring of Iowa that the farm conference to which governors of midwest agricultural states have been invited, will be held at Des Moines Monday.

Olson said Governor Herring advised him he had been assured by President Roosevelt that Henry Morgenthau, Jr., Governor of the Federal Farm Credit Administration, would attend.

Gov. Olson recently refused to join the action of Gov. William Langer of North Dakota by ordering an embargo on grains in Minnesota, asserting that the farm problems might be worked out at a conference of governors of agricultural states.

In view of recent statements of Gov. Olson, it was deemed probable he would request the governors attending the conference to join him in urging Secretary Wallace to institute a price-fixing program for farm commodities and license agencies dealing in them.

Des Moines, Iowa, Oct. 25 (AP)—Farm strike pickets today were apparently concentrating their fight for higher prices on the Wisconsin and northwestern Iowa fronts, disregarding instructions from their leader, Milo Reno of Des Moines.

Reno, president of the National Farmers' Holiday Association, which sponsored the anti-selling drive by agriculture, issued a blunt statement criticizing their activities.

"Instructions were issued," he said, "that there was not to be any picketing."

Meanwhile small groups of pickets in Iowa and Wisconsin continued localized activities but market receipts apparently were not greatly affected. Flares lit up main highways into Omaha as a group of Pettawattamie county, Iowa, farmers sought to turn back livestock trucks. Their activities, however, were short lived because cold winds broke up temporary encampments.

At a tri-state meeting at Sioux City, holiday leaders claiming to represent 25,000 farmers in Iowa, Nebraska and South Dakota voted to participate in the strike, urged the governors of either state to declare an embargo on all farm products until cost of production was obtained, and again demanded the resignation of Secretary Wallace.

Late yesterday additional small picketing groups near Sioux City were reported seeking cooperation by peaceful persuasion.

"But 'scram'—there's a woid, pal; there's a woid!"

Police Commissioner Bolan in opening a school of correct English for policemen yesterday, remarked that such study would "refine the tastes" of the men, but this noble prospect left most of the city's low-lives cold.

FEDERAL OFFER FOR GOLD HIKES PRICE 27 CENTS

Unprecedented Experiment To Increase Prices Begins

BULLETIN

Fillmore, Ind., Oct. 25 (AP)—A man and a woman today held up the Fillmore State Bank and escaped with several hundred dollars, money in silver.

They forced Amos Hunter, cashier, to accompany them when they fled from the bank but released him after they had driven about three miles into the country.

BULLETIN

Modoc, Ind., Oct. 25 (AP)—The Peoples Loan & Trust Company of Modoc was held up by a lone bandit just before noon today and robbed of between $300 and $400 in cash. The man then escaped in a green sedan, the rear license plates of which were missing.

Washington, Oct. 25 (AP)—President Roosevelt's unprecedented plan for controlling the American value of gold in the expectation of raising commodity prices was put in operation today with an offer to purchase newly mined gold at $31.36 an ounce, 27 cents higher than the day's opening quotations on world markets.

Announcing the price, Jesse H. Jones—RFC Chairman—said the gleaming metal would be paid for in the corporation's ninety-day debentures, which he added could be easily converted into cash.

Government fiscal experts were working out a plan whereby the debentures can be discontinued at a rate which will bring their holders the full purchase price for their gold.

Order Awaited

An executive order from the White House and regulations from the Treasury Department will be issued later in the day, outlining the procedure by which the mining companies will transfer their gold to the Corporation.

The price set was an increase of $1.56 cents an ounce over the world price of yesterday as figured and announced at the Treasury.

In quarters familiar with his mind, Roosevelt was reported today to be gratified with the public response to his gold move. As to Wall Street reaction, it was remarked that he will keep his future intentions to himself.

This authoritative comment apparently was evoked by inquiries rising from New York as to what was to come.

Has No Schedule

His informal reply was that he was working for an objective, and that while New York would probably like to have a schedule of 60

Winter's Preview Two Months Early and Quake Rocks Los Angeles Area

GRAF ZEPPELIN DUE IN CHICAGO TOMORROW MORN

Will Leave Great Airdock At Akron, O. This Evening

Akron, Ohio, Oct. 25 (AP)—Cradding in her spacious hull 21 passengers and a crew of 47, the Graf Zeppelin will be brought into the giant Akron airdock early today after an all-night ride over the sharp gusts of an autumnal storm.

She was more than 33 hours out of Miami, Fla., when the 170-ton movable mooring mast dragged her full length into the dock where the American air cruisers Akron and Macon were built, at 5:50 A. M. CST. Nearly two hours after her trailing ground ropes fell into the hand of a waiting ground crew.

From early last night when she shot a ray of green light across the field, until shortly before dawn, the veteran skydiver, en route to Chicago to visit the Century of Progress Exposition, drove her bow into heavy winds and gusts of rain. Snow and sleet fell as she was being docked.

Dr. Hugo Eckener, calm commander of the globe-girding Graf, announced as he descended from the control car that he would take off for Chicago at 10 o'clock tonight, weather permitting.

In Chicago Tomorrow

"Of course," he said, "weather may delay our start until Thursday. But—" he broke off, smiling.

"We'll make a slow trip to Chicago, landing about 9 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Then, at 8 o'clock Saturday we'll take off for Seville and Friedrichshafen."

"Why didn't you land last night in some of the hulls," Eckener was asked.

Baby Had Bath

"We could land," he replied with a gesture of the hands, "but it would be impossible to dock the ship after we had moored it to the pier. So it was just as well that we stay aloft until this morning. The baby had a bath up there, too." He smiled so broadly it was practically a grin.

The baby referred to was Billy Munson, aged ten and a half months, who with a brother and sister and mother and father made the trip to Akron all the way from Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, where the Graf stopped on her way from Germany to the United States.

Emphatically, and again with a smile, Dr. Eckener denied reports from Miami that a Cuban member of the ground crew there had stowed away aboard his ship.

"No stowaway," said Eckener, "unless you consider some of these nice people stowaways." He waved toward a roomful of his passengers.

On the question of weather, the commander said that from Columbus (Georgia to Ohio) the weather was fine, but outside of that he could recall many times when he had much more pleasant sailing.

Lebrun Is Asked To Form Cabinet

Paris, Oct. 25 (AP)—Senator Albert Sarraut today was asked by President Albert Lebrun to form a cabinet, and agreed to undertake the task.

The cabinet would replace that of former Premier Edouard Daladier, which fell this week after heated debate in the Chamber of Deputies over the government leader's plans to balance the budget and protect the franc through various new taxes and governmental economies.

The Premier-designate tentatively accepted what was considered a difficult task in attempting to form a new cabinet, but asked President Albert Lebrun permission to consult his friends before making a final decision.

Bids Received On Federal Projects: Most In Cook Co.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 25 (AP)—Federal approval today was awaited bids on almost 13 miles of paving and three bridge sections, received yesterday as the second series of jobs to be financed by the NRA public works grant to Illinois.

Chief Highway Engineer said the projects would cost approximately $822,000 and provide direct employment for about 600 men.

Another bid letting on the special highway program is to be held soon.

Most of the jobs are for improvements in Cook county.

Woodstock Woman Held For Murder

Woodstock, Ill.—A verdict of justifiable homicide in self defense returned by a Coroner's jury in the death of John H. Thompson, 45, was reversed by a McHenry county grand jury which indicted Mrs. Fred Gathman, 40, a neighbor of the murdered man.

Mrs. Gathman, who weighs 200 pounds, told State's Attorney V. S. Lumley she shot Thompson who weighed 135 pounds when he knocked her down.

Downfalls Of Fleecy White Snow Seen In Many Places

(By The Associated Press.)

Winter put on an October preview of its annual show almost two months ahead of the date for its formal debut and today widely scattered sections of the country and Canada reported mantles of fleecy snow.

Accompanied by a drop in temperature and with northwest storm warnings of winds that were expected to reach the proportions of a gale on Lake Superior, snow piled up to a depth of 12 inches in Duluth.

It was the heaviest October snowfall in 47 years. Other places in the state reported varying degrees of snow with Bemidji and Goveville in the northern part covered with six and seven inches. At St. Paul and Minneapolis there was just a trace of the Duluth storm.

In the far east at Saranac Lake, N. Y., the mountain sides were covered with a two inch layer after a six-hour fall. The storm spread out over a wide area as far as Utica and Gloversville, and in the northern Adirondacks a falling temperature to just below freezing kept the snow from melting.

Mass. Roses In Bloom

Two residents in Pittsfield, Mass., enjoyed the roses in their gardens while snow fell in the Berkshires yesterday, and in other sections of the state violets and strawberry blossoms were reported.

The storm spread in to Canada, most parts of Ontario being caught in snow, sleet and rain. A number of towns reported snow two inches deep and due to sleet telegraph service between Ontario and the east was disrupted.

In Chicago lower temperatures were accompanied by high winds and at Akron, O., a 60-mile wind kept the Graf Zeppelin en route to the Chicago World's Fair from landing for several hours.

Snow fell in Chicago today for the first time this year. The flurry lasted only a few minutes. The temperature fell to 32, the freezing point, and remained there for several hours.

QUAKE IN CALIFORNIA

Los Angeles, Oct. 25 (AP)—The foothill section surrounding Los Angeles on the north and east was jarred sharply by an earthquake at 1 A. M. CST. today.

The shock was felt to a lesser degree in the metropolitan district of Los Angeles.

No injury and practically no damage was reported.

Dr. Wood, of the seismological laboratory of the Carnegie Institution of Pasadena, reported the epicenter of the quake was near Pasadena. That city, Glendale and Burbank reported having felt the quake strongly.

In Glendale, canned goods were tumbled from store shelves and scores of burglar alarms were set off. Beverly Hills, also in the foothill section, but to the west, reported only a light shock. In Bell, southeast of Los Angeles, the police station was cracked.

The effect of the quake in Los Angeles was to jar loose a few stones from the old red-stoned courthouse which had been condemned and roped off following the March 10 quake, which caused damage amounting to millions, and the deaths of more than 125 persons. Long Beach, center of the March 10 terror, was unaffected by last night's shock.

Dr. Wood reported the shock was considerably less violent than last

WOODS IN WINTER

WHEN winter woods are piercing chill.
And through the hawthorn blows the gale,
With solemn feet I tread the hill,
That overflows the lonely vale.

O'er the bare upland, and away
Thru' the long reach of desert woods,
The embracing sunbeams chastely play,
And gladden these deep solitudes.

Where, twisted round the barren oak,
The summer vine in beauty clung
And summer winds the stillness broke,
The crystal icicle is hung.

Where, from their frozen urns,
Mute springs
Pour out the river's gradual tide
Shrilly the skater's iron rings,
And voices fill the woodland side.

Alas! how changed from the fair scene,
When birds sang out their mellow lay,
And winds were soft, and woods were green,
And the song ceased not with the day.

Chill airs and wintry winds, with ear,
Has grown familiar with your song;
I hear it in the opening year—
I listen, and it cheers me along.

—Henry W. Longfellow.

P. E. O. Guest Day with Mrs. A. F. Moore

Chapter AC, Illinois P. E. O. met Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. F. Moore on Brinton Avenue, Mrs. M. C. Keller, Mrs. Dwight Chapman and Mrs. C. H. Wampler assisted Mrs. Moore in entertaining the local chapter and the guests.

Mrs. John Charters, the president of the chapter, introduced Miss Jane Hoefler who opened the program with two piano numbers which were enthusiastically applauded by her audience. Mrs. Charters next introduced Miss Esther Barton who talked about her recent world cruise. Miss Barton spoke especially of her surprises as she traveled and was entertained throughout the original countries. Miss Barton's experiences are most interesting and unusual and her manner of relating them very entertaining. She stressed human interest which never fails to appeal, her costumes from several eastern countries added color and interest.

The hostess served dainty refreshments from a beautifully table presided over by Mrs. W. H. Coppins and Mrs. John Charters.

Buckley-Lesage Marriage Today

At eight o'clock this morning a simple but pretty wedding was solemnized at a Nuptial High Mass at St. Anne's church uniting the lives of Frank D. Buckley, and Marie Lesage.

Solos before the ceremony were "To A Wild Rose," by McDowell; "At Dawning," by Cadman; and "Ave Maria" by Gounod; sung by Mrs. Helen Parker Hoon, accompanied on the violin by Miss Eleanor Hennessey. Special numbers were arranged and sung by the choir.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Dr. Charles Lesage. Her only attendant was Miss Louise Murphy who was attired in a burgundy colored velvet gown with accessories to match. She carried an arm bouquet of Talisman roses. The bride looked lovely in a modern gown of white satin and wore a short veil with cap. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. The groom was attended by George Morsch of Chicago. After the ceremony Frank Gorham sang "I Love You Truly."

The ushers were Ray Clinette and Leo Miller. A pretty wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's mother for the relatives.

The newlyweds had planned a wedding trip by motor to Biloxi, Mississippi, but the bridegroom met with an accident to his foot just after the wedding breakfast, so the trip is postponed temporarily. Mr. and Mrs. Buckley will be at home in a few weeks to their friends at 1006 W. Third st.

The bride is an employee of the Illinois Northern Utilities Company and Mr. Buckley is affiliated with Joseph W. Staples.

Both are very popular young people with hosts of friends who unite in wishing them every happiness the future can hold.

The Tuesday Club enjoyed a meeting with Mrs. Paul Brookner yesterday.

"Illinois Voters' Handbook," Valuable

Authoritative information regarding government matters is made possible by the Illinois League of Women Voters through publication of its new 1933 edition of "The Illinois Voters' Handbook," which has been revised to include changes made by the 1933 session of the Illinois General Assembly. The Handbook makes it possible for adults to be as intelligent regarding political and election matters in Illinois as are their children who are receiving such instruction in school and college.

Professor A. R. Hatton, Northwestern University has said: "The material included in the Handbook is invaluable to anyone desiring information regarding Illinois elections and election laws. The book contains information brought together in convenient form which even those familiar with Illinois statutes would have to spend a great deal of time in ferreting out and which the rank and file of our citizens would find impossible to dig out at all."

Dr. H. A. Mills, University of Chicago, in commenting on the Illinois Voters Handbook wrote: "It contains a tremendous amount of information the would-be intelligent citizen and voter needs, well organized and well presented. It is up to the splendid level of the other activities of the Illinois League."

Graham Taylor, Chicago Commons, not only noted the authoritative and indispensable subject matter of the Voters Handbook but added: "If the women voters, to whom the state is indebted for this Voters Handbook, were moved by their own need thus to equip themselves for their voting citizenship, we men voters should be ashamed of voting so long without any such intelligence. If we continue to do so when it is at hand God save the Commonwealth of Illinois."

The Illinois Voters Handbook tells us about our federal, Illinois, county and city government. It contains sample ballots and maps of senatorial, congressional and judicial districts. There is an election calendar of all regular elections in the state and all the election information necessary for voting. There is a section devoted to public finance which includes data on the sources of revenue, methods of assessment, collections, delinquent debts, occupational tax, etc.

Hot Drink for Breakfast Good

Many mothers think that children of school age should have a hot drink for breakfast—particularly on those mornings when a hot cereal is not served. But with coffee considered taboo, growing girls and boys, and the ideal hot milk seldom proving popular, just what to serve becomes more or less of a problem.

Older children may find a cereal "coffee" served with hot milk quite to their liking. Young children from 6 to 12 years of age need a drink containing more actual food value than the cereal beverage unless it is made wholly with milk. A cup of hot milk flavored with one or two tablespoons of a cereal coffee infusion may appeal to the juniors.

Cocoa also makes an excellent flavoring for the cup of hot milk suitable for the junior's breakfast.

High in Protein

Fat, starch and protein are found in dry cocoa, and when whole milk is used and sugar added, the result is a drink of high food value, nourishing and wholesome. One cup of cocoa made of tirely with whole milk furnishes 217 calories of protein, fat and carbohydrates.

Because cocoa contains starch, care must be taken in the making of the drink. Thorough cooking is necessary for the starch, but undesirable for the milk. Consequently the cocoa must be well cooked before the milk is added.

The "skin" which sometimes forms on top of cocoa is the albumin of the milk coagulated by heat. Care in not overheating the milk and constant stirring while the milk is heating do much to prevent this. Beating with a Dover beater after the milk is added increases the smoothness of the drink and tends to remove the "skin" if the milk was allowed to scald.

Chocolate and cocoa may often be used interchangeably, but cocoa is less rich in fat and easier to digest. This makes it a better beverage for small children.

ALL MY DAYS

By HELEN WELSHIMER

ALL my days hang on a line
Just like pillow slips
When the high wind whips

MONDAY here and Tuesday there
I pretend it's fun,
And I laugh when sudden storms
Make the colors run.

That I ever cried—
Oh, I wish there was a way
To leave nights outside!

Miss Chase Conducted Training School

Miss Mary Chase, of the Extension Service of University of Illinois, conducted an officers' training school for the unit and county officers of the Lee County Home Bureau Tuesday afternoon at the court house in Dixon.

Twenty officers attended, and listened with enthusiasm as Miss Chase discussed the qualities contributing to successful leadership. Lee County Home Bureau represents one of a group of forty thousand communities with an enrolled national membership of over forty hundred thousand members. This is the largest organized group of women in the United States and is composed of those vitally interested in the art of successful home making and the affairs of the state and nation. Having at their services, the entire staff of the Home Economic Extension work of the State University, it is possible to bring to the county specialists to conduct training schools in any line of work. While the greatest expense of the organization is carried on by the Federal Government, it is necessary to have county dues with which to carry on the county business and buy supplies for the county office at Amboy. An excellent program has been planned for the coming year and those interested are invited to attend the various unit meetings and learn more of the activities of Home Bureau work.

THEIR GOLDEN WEDDING IN OCTOBER

Galena—The third golden wedding anniversary to be celebrated here this month was observed Tuesday by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Knoebber, who, although they hailed from the same vicinity in Germany, met when they came to Galena.

Miss Hattie Loosli, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. Loosli, 1713 West Second street, Dixon, has received her diploma in a private secretarial course at the Standard Extension University, Chicago, and all her friends are pleased with her success.

DORCAS SOCIETY TO MEET THURSDAY

The Dorcas Society of the Christian church will meet at the church parlors at 2:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

Helpful Hints For Housewives

Popcorn For Corn Soup

Gives Decorative Touch
To give variety in flavor and appearance to cream of corn soup, after it has been placed in the soup dishes, sprinkle several kernels of popped corn on top of each service. Sprinkle with paprika, add a dash of whipped cream and you have a festive dish.

Feeding Squirrels, Birds

Pleasure For Children
In allowing children to take nuts to the squirrels in the yard you establish a sense of the pleasure of giving and watching the enjoyment of other creatures. If you have a garden let the children be the ones to scatter the crumbs for the birds each day.

Rainy Day Play

On a rainy day when the busy housewife has a chance to catch up with a number of small tasks give the children a space of their own in which to play and suggest such amusements as playing house (giving a few old clothes for dressing-up purposes), playing train, or cutting out pictures for home-made puzzles.

Polish Linoleum Make It Look Better, Last Longer

Linoleum looks better, lasts longer and is easier to clean if it is kept polished. One way is to apply a thin coat of liquid wax and, when dry, polish with a soft cloth.

Hallowe'en Fun

Let the children enjoy Hallowe'en. A wholesome children's party on this evening does more to destroy an unnatural fear of spooks and darkness and strange sounds than anything else. Acting the spooks themselves gives them a feeling of the absurdity of such fears. Let the children have some place where they can bob for apples in watery comfort—both as to the room and their own clothes.

Housekeeping Tips

The syrup from canned pears, apricots or peaches poured over baked ham gives a delicious flavor. Pineapple or raisin sauce blends well with roast pork, ham or pork chops.

Don't Force Child To Eat—Make His Food Appealing

The old-fashioned idea that a child must eat everything that is set before him is a debatable point in these days of greater kindness to children.

Of course it is essential that children should eat the right amount of nourishing food, nicely prepared, but forcing all foods, whether liked or not, is very apt to result in dislike of a great many foods later in life because of the enforced doses of them in childhood.

It is better to try to make the food sufficiently appetizing and varied in semblance, at least, so that the child will relish it. Milk, for example, can be given in a number of ways, a touch of cocoa or chocolate transforming it into a delicious "chocolate drink."

To Freshen Pretzels

Pretzels lose their freshness quickly, but they can be heated for 5 minutes in a moderate oven and they will be as crisp as when first purchased. Pretzels can be served with beverages, soups or salads.

Fill jelly glasses 2-3 of an inch from the top. When the jelly has cooled cover it with melted paraffin, tilting the glass of jelly so that the paraffin completely seals the product. The paraffin should be poured from a small tin cup or discarded tea pot. To prevent dust from collecting on the tops of the glasses, the tops may be covered with rounds of papers held in place with rubber bands.

Housekeeping Tips

Dry cake can be sliced in very thin pieces and utilized as a lining for a jelly mold for a dessert variety.

Do not beat the egg whites too much for angel food cake or it will be too dry. The whites should be beaten until they form a point when the egg beater is removed.

A glass pitcher filled with sweetened fruit juices and stored in the ice box can be converted quickly into punch by adding iced water and ice.

How To Fill Jelly Glasses

Cream cheese and maraschino cherries, combined with sliced pineapple, make enough cherry juice with the cheese to form a smooth paste. Add a few chopped cherries to the mixture. Place a slice of pineapple on lettuce on each salad plate and heap the cheese concoction in the center of the pineapple slices.

Halloween Party At Walton Saturday

A Hallowe'en dancing party is to be held in St. Mary's hall at Walton Saturday evening, to which everyone is invited. Music is to be furnished by the Bob Ellington orchestra. Miss Catherine Gatchel is chairman. The orchestra committee is Edna Dempsey and Florence Halligan. Following are the committees for the affair:

Reception Committee—Elizabeth McBride, Arvilla Dempsey, Alice Gurety, Viola Dempsey.

Committee for Favors—Sadie Healy, Margaret Dunphy, Bernadine Corrington, Eileen Morrissey, Lucile Morrissey.

Publicity Committee—Julia Brechon, Irene Daum.

Decoration Committee—Florence Sweeney, Helen Dempsey, Margaret Blackburn, Josephine Halligan, Geraldine McCoy, Hannah Owens, Alice Brechon, Hazel McCoy, Catherine Lally, Mary Leonard, Florence Bushman, Mary Dunphy, Helen Grohens, Rita Gurety, Elizabeth Halligan, Mary Grohens, Anna McCoy, Gertrude McCoy, Evelyn McGuirk and Mabel Healy.

BIRTHDAY SURPRISE AND DINNER

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Bergstrom entertained at dinner Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fishback and Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Plock. After dinner they attended the theater and on their return to Dixon they found fifteen friends assembled at the Bergstrom home to surprise Mrs. Bergstrom in honor of her birthday. Two birthday cakes featured the tempting refreshments served. All wished the hostess happy returns of the day.

DINNER CELEBRATED WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Rieger of Lisbon, Ia., are visiting her sister, Miss Anna Johnson, 519 Squires avenue. Yesterday was the tenth anniversary for the Riegers and members of the family and Rev. Frank Brandell, of Highland Park, a former pastor here, gathered at the home to celebrate the event with a dinner. It proved a very happy occasion for all present, and the honored couple received best wishes from all.

Back in Fashion's Favor Again; Seal

By RITA FERRIS

Paris (AP)—Seal is back in the fashion parade. The soft pliable fur, long lost to fashion's favor, returns this year in coats, muffs, trimmings and hats. A rich bronze-brown and black are the colors in which it generally appears.

Coats Seal-Trimmed

Seal trims appear on many winter coats. One designer displays a black wool coat trimmed with a deep cape collar of black seal, another exhibits an olive green wool coat with a small high collar and cuffs of bronze-brown seal, and a third finishes a grey ensemble with a scarf collar of black seal.

Both long and three-quarter length coats made of the same soft fur are displayed as smart winter wraps. One chic afternoon coat is a three-quarter length model of black seal faced with ermine. Another is a full-length model of bronze-brown seal collared in fox dyed the same shade.

A Touch of 1910

Hip-length seal capes and big seal muffs give a 1910 touch to a number of winter costumes. The muffs are much larger than the small melon designs in favor last year. The 1934 model is a big pillow muff, often as large as twelve by eighteen inches.

Little seal toques appear with costumes trimmed in the same fur. They are made on trim lines recalling a Russian cosack cap and are worn slightly tilted over the right eyebrow.

Festival and Bazaar At St. Anne's Hall

A fall festival and bazaar will be held in St. Anne's hall Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week, sponsored by the members of St. Anne's Guild of the church. A chicken and noodle dinner will be served Thursday evening from 5 to 7 o'clock. On Friday there will be dancing and Saturday evening also and many other amusements. There will be door prizes and a Holger Jensen painting is to be given away.

Mrs. Aschenbrenner Jr., Entertains Club

Mrs. George Aschenbrenner Jr. entertained most enjoyably the members of her bridge club Monday evening at her home. Mrs. Robert Seales won the favor for high honors. Miss Esther Kested won honor favor and Miss Florence Wilson the consolation favor.

M. E. AID TO MEET FRIDAY

The Ladies' Aid Society of the M. E. church will hold its regular monthly business meeting Friday afternoon at the church. All members are urged to come.

TO ENTERTAIN CLUB AT A TEA

Next Monday Mrs. C. B. Morrison of Bluff Park will entertain the Peoria Avenue Reading Club with a tea. The daughters of the club members will also be guests.

P. T. A. WILL MEET THURSDAY AT 3:30

The Parent-Teachers Association of the E. C. Smith school will meet at the school Thursday afternoon at 3:30.

From Chicago Daily News.

President Roosevelt is, we believe, a conscientious, sincere public official devoted to the maintenance and preservation of American institutions. We do not believe that he would consciously and wittingly do aught to impair the fundamental rights and liberties which are guaranteed to the American people under our constitution. The events of the last forty-eight hours, however, thoroughly warrant and justify a solemn warning from the American press to the American president that the curious and involved processes which characterize the evolution of the administration of the national recovery act are placing him in a position where he may forfeit the support of every self-respecting independent newspaper in the United States. This danger is a very grave one and would imperil, if it did not preclude, the success of the administration's patriotic and admirable efforts for industrial and agricultural recovery.

Within the last forty-eight hours the President has issued an executive order empowering the administrator of the NRA to punish violators of any code by fine and imprisonment. Within the same limits of time, it is also reported, attempts have been made by the administrator of NRA to censor or suppress reports of proceedings under the NRA in Washington. These developments, supplemented as they have been by similar instances of bureaucratic assumptions which contravene the clear-cut constitutional rights of citizens, explain perfectly and completely the growing reluctance of the newspapers of America to submit to the restrictions of any code whatever. This fear of infringement upon the rights of free speech and a free press would in no way warrant a refusal by the newspapers of the country to comply with the requirements of any proposed code affecting the hours of employment, the payment of a minimum wage and other purely administrative details involving the manufacturing processes in a newspaper office. As a matter of fact, substantially every newspaper in the United States is already operating in compliance with these requirements. Consequently there are not now and never were any evils or injustices in the business of making newspapers which required the establishment of a newspaper code. The shrinkage in employment in the newspaper business between 1929 and 1933 has been about 3 per cent. The reduction in wages paid in the same period has averaged 11 per cent in a time when living costs have gone down more than 30 per cent. There exist, therefore, in the industry no crying evils to correct and an almost negligible reduction in employment with a reduction in pay approximating about a third of the contemporaneous reduction in living costs.

The first and primary duty of the newspapers of the country is not the establishment of a code as an emergency measure. Their primary and vital duty is to protect the people of the country in the enjoyment of a free press and to safeguard at any hazard the sanctity of the first amendment of the constitution.

The Chicago Daily News does not pretend to speak for the press of America. No one has that authority. But the Daily News believes it faithfully reflects the convictions of an overwhelming majority of American editors when it declares that it will willingly continue to observe the requirements of a suggested newspaper code as to hours, wages and recognition of the right of collective bargaining by its employees, but will utterly decline to sign any agreement which subjects this newspaper to coercion of any sort exercised by anybody which tends in the slightest particular to impair its right to speak freely and without restraint on any question under the sun.

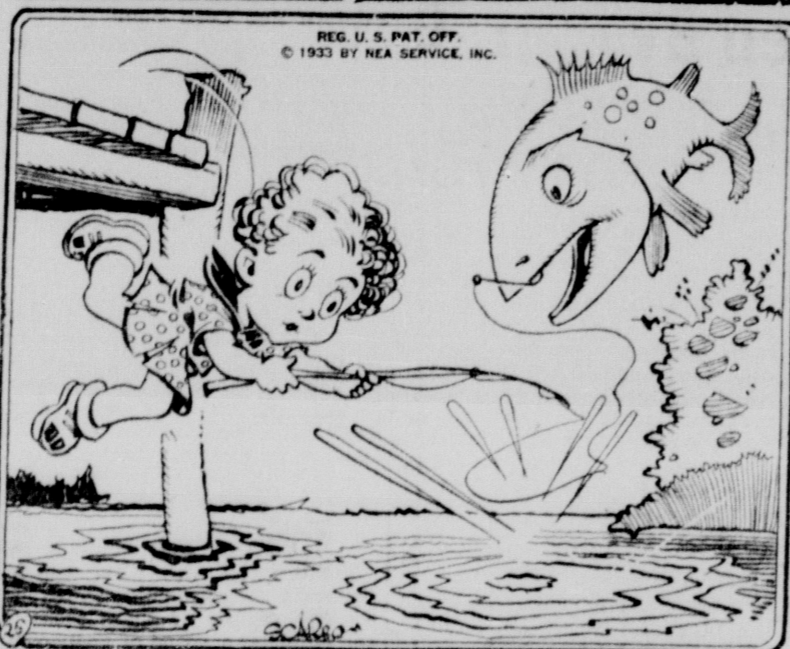

The first amendment to the federal constitution says, "Congress shall make no law abridging the freedom of speech or of the press." To suspend this or any other constitutional right on any pretext in time of peace by executive order or congressional act would be tyranny. To agree to suspension of freedom of the press, which is forecast by the President's executive order, would be on the part of a newspaper disloyalty to the cause of public enlightenment which is an essential safeguard of a free people.

We say to the President of the United States, whose efforts at recovery we have sought in every possible way to support: "Beware, lest some zealots among your subordinates lead you into ground so dangerous and untenable that you defeat the great purpose upon which you are engaged and in which the welfare of the whole people is involved. We say to you only the obvious when we declare there is a swiftly spreading popular alarm over recent and numerous manifestations of bureaucratic tyranny in Washington, and unless the cause of alarm is promptly removed you will imperil the splendid unanimity with which the public has accepted and supported your program of economy and recovery."

You always have more cold shivers down your spine when the other fellow is flying the machine than when you are flying it yourself.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

I am running my job and Roosevelt ain't got nothing to do with me.—Senator Huey Long.

THE TINYMITES

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

Wee Duncy looked at his small fish and said, "Oh, I will bet you all wish that you could catch one this big. It is something, anyway!"

"As fishermen you're not so very good. I did just as I said I would. I caught the first one, even though I will toss the thing away."

"Sure! Throw it back in. It's too small," said Copy. "Gee, if that is all we're going to hook, we'd better quit. We're wasting time!"

"You see, it really isn't fair to jerk the small ones into air. I'd hoped to catch some great big ones and have a dandy mess."

"Now, please be patient. Just sit tight, and you will find this spot all right," exclaimed the kind old fisherman. "I have fished here day and night."

"In time I'm sure that we will get some big ones if you lads will let your lines hang in the water till you feel a real strong bite."

So, all the Tynymites sat still, and suddenly there came a thrill when Doty loudly shouted, "Look, my line is swishing round!"

The fisherman began to grin. "You've hooked a whopper. Pull it in," he shouted. "Jerk your line and flop the fish upon the ground."

Then Doty jerked his pole in the air and Scouty shouted, "Wow! Look there! The fish sure is a big one. It is trying to wiggle loose."

"Don't let it jump around and play, or I am sure it will get away!" Wee Doty tried to land it, but soon found it was no use.

Just as she cried, "I'm all tired out," the fish jumped high and jerked about. Poor Doty lost her balance and was pulled into the stream.

The next thing that the Tynymites knew, brave Scouty ran and jumped in, too. "Don't worry! I will rescue her!" The bunch heard him scream.

(Scouty saves Doty and gives the bunch a surprise in the next story.)

COLORED SHIRTS

(By Dr. Joseph Fort Newton)

It is the age of the Colored Shirt. In Italy under Mussolini, it is a Black Shirt; in Germany, led by Hitler, it is the Brown Shirt. In Ireland, it seems, O'Duffy is trying to set up a reign of Blue Shirts. In America we have had the Night Shirt, with talk of the Khaki Shirts, and other varieties for all I know.

One wonders why we do not have an order of Striped Shirts, if only to give some of us a chance to use of existing stocks. But no. All must wear the same sort of shirt, think alike—if they think at all—accept, salute with hands up, an appropriate gesture for those who have been robbed of liberty; and all must walk in the lockstep march of a prison camp. The symbolism fits the fact.

What is the meaning of this Colored Shirt movement? It is a symptom of the worst disease of modern life—a slump from faith in reason to faith in force; an ugly, uneasy scepticism which has lost all confidence in intelligence and persuasion and substituted for it the club and the bludgeon. For the more sceptical a man is, the more ruthless he is sure to be.

Agree with us, think as we think, do as we say—or we will knock your head off. It is the new collective tyranny. It means the death of democracy, the funeral of freedom, an end of faith in the wisdom and good feeling of mankind. Born of fear, it uses coercion, conscription, proscription, to impose its despotism upon all men.

Worse still behind this mask of lawless law lurk the most sinister spirits of our generation—racial rancor, religious bigotry, a narrow hectic nationalism. It puts on a big show, makes a thrilling parade, but if we go behind the scenes we see the hideous faces of all the hateful devils of terror and tyranny.

B. Liberty is not dead; it only sleeps. It is the breath of God and the life of man. We do not forget that Garibaldi wore a Red Shirt, fighting for the liberty and unity of his people!

Daily Health Talk

A DISTURBING IRREGULARITY

A condition calling for careful medical accounting at any age is irregular menstruation. When it occurs at or about the age of 40, it represents something which must under no circumstances be neglected.

The condition may be due to one of a number of causes. A common cause is the development of a myoma, or smooth muscle tumor in the uterus. Polyps, which are small irregular growths, and fibroid growths involving the lining of the uterus as well as its muscles, may also give rise to irregular uterine hemorrhage.

Chronic infectious conditions involving the uterine lining may also be to blame. And in a certain number of cases the condition may be due to endocrine disturbances without any evident changes in the uterus.

However, the most serious condition which may be responsible is the development of malignant disease in the uterus. This possibility must be excluded before the irregularity is accounted for as being due to anything else.

Cancer of the cervix or lower part of the uterus is one of the most fatal conditions in gynecology. If left untreated, the patient has little hope for life. A diagnosis of this condition is not difficult, though at times it may require the slipping of a small portion of the cervix in order that microscopic studies of the tissue might be made.

Carcinoma of the cervix is relatively rare in those who have borne no children. The condition is most common at about the age of 40 to 45, but it has been known to affect women much younger as well as those older.

The treatment of carcinoma of the cervix is either by surgery or by radium or by a combination of the two. In this type of cancer the results of treatment have been very encouraging, but, generally, the earlier the diagnosis is made and the quicker the treatment is instituted, the better the outcome is likely to be.

Ida M. Wellman-Tennant was born April 7, 1858 at Bradford township and passed away October 13, 1933, at the age of 75 years. She was the daughter of Lorin T. and Mathilda Hopkins Wellman, who came to Illinois as pioneers from New York State. She was married in 1877 to G. Lewis Tennant, which union was born Lorin Edwin who preceded her in death 21 years ago. She was married to George Tennant on December 25, 1884, which union was broken by death, January 21, 1923. To this union was born three children, Charles W., of Aurora, Gladys P. Gross and Mary E. Schmall, who live on the old homestead.

Mrs. Tennant was a devoted Christian and devoted much of her life to the aid of the sick and distressed.

Besides her children she leaves four grandchildren, Mrs. Bartel Vogt, Charles W. Jr., and Donald G. Tennant and Mary, Elsie and Schmall, as well as four great grandchildren. One brother also survives, Seth A. Wellman of Macon City, Iowa.

Funeral services were held from the home at Shaws at 2:30 and at 3 o'clock in the Congregational church at Amborg, conducted by her former pastor, Rev. Frederick Brink of Moline and interment was made in the family lot at Prairie Repose cemetery. The casket carriers were Clem Miller, Harold July, George Clark, Alfred Hicks, Ben Porter and Bowden Jesse. Those from out of town who attended the funeral were: Seth A. Wellman of Macon

Red Cross Appeals for Members

THE 1933 poster of the American Red Cross, distributed nationwide, is an appeal for an enlarged membership. Resources were never more vitally needed than in this fourth year of economic distress.

Memberships, which cost one dollar or more, are used to support the unemployment relief work of chapters and national organization; nationwide disaster relief work; health work in hundreds of communities, with special reference to preserving the health of mothers and children; safety work through teaching first aid and life saving; welfare work through six million school children who are members of the Junior Red Cross; and one of the most important tasks ever to face the Red Cross—keeping up the morale of veterans of our wars, and handling their problems of compensation payments, arising from changes in governmental regulations.

One hundred twenty disasters engaged the financial and personnel forces of the Red Cross during the past year. More than a million dollars was spent in relief of families who lost their all in hurricanes, storms, fires, earthquake and other frightful calamities.

President Roosevelt has said: "I can be counted on to foster and aid in every way in my power the great work your organization (The Red Cross) must carry on."

Can any citizen of the nation fail to do likewise?

JANGLED NERVES

GOING TO STAY ON THAT PHONE ALL NIGHT?

Do jangled nerves make you say things you'll regret?

How many times in the course of a week do you snap at someone? If you check very carefully you will probably find that it happens more times than you realize.

For one of the dangers of jangled nerves is that the victim so seldom knows about his own condition. It not only hurts others—but himself as well.

The more alert you are, the more high-strung and alive, the greater danger there is of jangled nerves.

Get your full amount of sleep every night. Eat regularly and sensibly. Find time for recreation. And smoke Camels—for Camels' costlier tobaccos never get on your nerves.

LADIES BOWLING LEAGUE OPENED WINTER SEASON

Four Teams Inaugurated Play With Some Promising Results

A ladies bowling league has been organized and began its fall and winter schedule of games Monday night, at the Recreation Alleys. The newly organized league consists of four teams, the names of which are as follows: The Jones Grocery, captained by Jarloth Jones; the Wolverines, captained by Marie Worley; the Woolworth's store, captained by Adeline Owen; and the Black Hawks, captained by Lucy Bovey.

The ladies league will bowl every Monday evening, starting promptly at 7:30 P. M. Games won and lost will decide the winners.

The league committee has decided to use the handicap system of bowling, thus giving each individual an equal chance.

An early invitation is extended by the ladies committee to any girls or women wishing to witness these games on Monday nights.

Jones Grocery vs Black Hawks
The Jones Grocery made their debut by defeating the Black Hawks two out of three games, and as a result are in second place in team standings.

The Jones team was outstanding in its performance in that the team set up the highest team single game has far, 613 and they also collected the highest team three games series, 1691.

Jarloth Jones rolled the highest three game series for the first week with 482, also counting high single game of 178. Miss Jones also goes in first place in individual averages with 160.2.

Mrs. P. Daschenbach of the Black Hawks contributed a nice series of 429, opening the season in second place, with an average of 143.

Erda Glessner, another member of the Black Hawk team takes third place for the first week, with a series of 406, now averaging 135.

Elsie Neff of the Jones team hold fifth with 131.

Wolverines vs Woolworth's
The Wolverines took an early lead in team standings by winning all three games from the Woolworth's team. The Woolworth's entry promised the Wolverines heavier competition next time, as they are new students of the game and with a little practice will make it plenty hard for any opposition.

Helen Finney of the Wolverines started the first week with a substantial total of 400, giving her an average of 133.1 for fourth place in average standings.

Marie Worley, captain of the Wolverines, rolled high single game for this match, with 157 her second game.

CHAMPIONSHIPS OF CONFERENCES ISSUED THIS SAT.

Dopesters Should Be Supplied With All Facts This Week

New York, Oct. 25.—(AP)—The studios football follower, curious to ascertain just what the sectional championship prospects are, will have plenty to gnaw on after this week's games have been won, lost and tied.

An early-season campaign against set-ups or intersectional f.o.e.s. profitable or interesting as it may have been, leaves most conference races still in the formative stage with no possibility of accurate ratings. This week should correct that, for most of the big fellows will take their fun in conference games.

In the Big Ten, for instance, four conference games should clarify the situation considerably although there's small chance of anything occurring to make Michigan's Wolverines any less the outstanding favorites they already are. The result of their meeting with Chicago is regarded as a foregone conclusion. At Minneapolis, however, the clash of Iowa's Hawkeyes and Minnesota's Gophers should eliminate one or the other from further contention. Iowa has hung over successive triumphs over Northwestern and Wisconsin, but Minnesota, despite ties with Indiana and Purdue, looks impressive. Purdue, tied but unbeaten, should coast by Wisconsin and remain in the chase. Northwestern and Ohio State, rivals at Columbus, have been beaten and, at the moment at least, are out of the race.

A Nebraska victory over Oklahoma and a Kansas defeat by Kansas State would just about decide the Big Six race in favor of Nebraska's Cornhuskers. That would give Nebraska three successive victories with hapless Missouri and a strong defensive Kansas outfit still to be met. The third conference game this week, Iowa State vs. Missouri, involves the tail-enders.

The five-game Pacific Coast schedule brings together only two eleven undefeated within the conference, Southern California and California, but Oregon, Stanford and Oregon State, the first two undefeated and untied, and Oregon State only tied, run into strenuous opposition that may make a wholesale slash in the contenders list. Oregon must play U. C. L. A. whose only conference start ended in a 3-0 defeat from Stanford. Stanford plays Washington and Oregon State meets Washington State. The fifth game between Montana and Idaho involves the cellar-dwellers.

In the southwest, the two leaders, Arkansas and Southern Methodist, meet at Fayetteville. B. T. Texas making its conference debut will jump into the race if the Longhorns top Rice. Texas A. & M. and Baylor, each beaten once, clash at College Station. Texas Christian, with an even break in two games, tackles Centenary of the S. I. A. A.

Little progress will be made in the south toward clarifying the Southern and Southeastern Conference races although two undefeated teams in the former group, Virginia Poly and South Carolina, square off against one another. Duke, the heir-apparent to the Southern Conference throne, plays Kentucky, a Southeastern eleven. Florida's undefeated Southeastern record may go by the boards in the meeting with Tennessee. And Louisiana State's first contest in the same group takes the Tigers against Vanderbilt, whose only conference start resulted in a tie with Mississippi State.

The numerous and unwieldy eastern colleges with no major conference alignment at all, will have to wait until just about the end of the season before any generally recognized leader will emerge, but this week's slate may serve to eliminate some of the unbeaten teams such as Yale or Army, who collide at New Haven; Fordham, Holy Cross, Dartmouth and Carnegie, all of whom run up against what appears to be formidable opposition.

Although apparently not so powerful as in the past few years, the Utah Indians still are the boys to beat in the Rocky Mountain sector and they loom much too strong for Utah State, Denver and Colorado College, both unbeaten but tied, will try to eliminate one another in the only other game involving eleven who so far have escaped conference defeat.

Drake will go after its fourth straight Missouri Valley Conference triumph in a clash with Washington University of St. Louis Saturday.

'Eckie' Vs Winooka Race Is Off Again

New York, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Failure on the part of C. V. Whitney and Rufe Naylor to agree on the conditions today had resulted in the apparent definite cancellation of the proposed match race between Equippose and Winooka, Australian sprint champion.

Whitney agreed to have the race run at seven furlongs, rather than a mile and Naylor, managing Winooka's tour, agreed to 126 pounds but the question of a purse stopped all negotiations.

Whitney proposed a $5,000 purse to be donated by the Westchester Racing Association, but Naylor was reported to have held out for $25,000.

The off-gain, on-again race was slated as the feature of the United Hunt's one-day meeting at Belmont Park Nov. 7.

Winooka will make his eastern debut at Laurel, Md., today meeting four leading American sprinters in the $2,500 Challenger purse of six furlongs.

HAWKEYES HAVE HARD GRADE TO CAPTURE TITLE

Get Their First Real Test Saturday Against Heavy Gophers

Chicago, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Fans may talk all they want to about Iowa winning the Big Ten football title, but the fact remains that the Hawkeyes still have the steepest grade to climb to reach the top of the Western Conference.

Saturday will be the beginning of the big test for the Solesco-coached eleven. The Hawks, sitting on top of the race at the present with two victories and no defeats, travel up to Minnesota to engage one of the huskiest teams in the circuit. Minnesota, Iowa's very smooth functioning offense may have a difficult time working against the Gophers who have allowed only two touchdowns in two conference tilts. Both games ended in ties.

Iowa's scoring punch, Johnny Laws, Russ Fisher and Captain Dick Crayne, may solve the secret of the Gophers defense that Purdue's much heralded backfield was unable to, the Boilermakers having to be satisfied with a 7 to 7 tie.

No Scoring Power?
So far as Minnesota's scoring power is concerned it hasn't been much in evidence. The Gophers have tallied only 39 points in four games, including 19 against South Dakota State.

After Saturday's contest the Hawkeyes play a non-conference encounter with Iowa State. Then comes the supreme test—Michigan Minnesota Saturday another rematch at Ann Arbor. If Iowa can defeat ord crowd may see the Iowa-Michigan game Nov. 11. Following the Wolverine game the Hawkeyes move to LaFayette to meet Purdue. They play another non-conference tilt with Nebraska to wind up the season.

Iowa had its first taste of a Big Ten title in 1900 when it tied for top honors with Minnesota. Twenty-one years later the Hawkeyes had a clear claim to the crown with five victories. The following year there was a three-conference tie for the championship involving Iowa, Michigan and Chicago.

Around the Big Ten
Coach Bierman devoted his time to the Minnesota reserves. The Northwestern reserve backs starred in scrimmage. The Illinois varsity goes back to practice today. Injuries may force Iowa to abandon further scrimmage. Wisconsin's new backfield looked good. Chicago scrimmaged. Bob Jones has been shifted back to fullback after starting the season at guard at Indiana. Purdue practiced passing. Michigan drilled on fundamentals. Coach Willaman may shift the Ohio State team for the Northwestern game.

Many Economists Doubt Value of Gold Market Established By F. D. R.

See Only Transitory Inflationary Consequences

Washington, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Many financial observers agree that a temporary inflationary effect will result from the gold control experiment the government is beginning today, and that farm and other raw materials having a world market may advance considerably in price if the policy is pursued vigorously.

But beyond that, few economists agree, and many of them deny that there will be any but the most transient inflationary consequences. They say these will depend to a considerable extent on the dollar price to which gold is raised.

Psychologically, at least, some observers believe a higher price for gold tends to create a higher price level. But many economists object to the simplicity of this theory, especially in the present situation. In the first place, they argue that buyers and sellers do not actually expect to get gold for their dollars and that consequently the price more likely would be set by bargaining between the buyers and sellers.

May Aid Commodities

The intention of the President, however, to fix a gold price higher than that current in world markets, may increase the price of wheat and other commodities, whose prices are set in world markets. This is because trading between nations more closely approaches exchange of goods for gold rather than for currency.

For example, where four pounds of English money ordinarily might buy an ounce of gold, and an ounce of gold is $20, then if the price of gold is fixed at $30, the four pounds buys $30. If the price of commodities in the United States does not advance as much as the price of gold, then the four pounds will buy more goods.

For this reason some government economists believe gold price fixing will benefit the farmer materially through an increasing demand abroad for his products. Since gold's price in the United States may be changed at will, it would be possible always to stimulate farmers to buy goods here.

Dollar "Profits"

Gold price fixing may be inflationary insofar as it raises the dollar value of the nation's gold holdings. If the United States possessed $4,000,000,000 in gold at $20 an ounce and the price of gold was increased to $30, then the same amount of gold would be valued in dollars at 50 per cent more. The nation's books would show $6,000,000,000, a dollar "profit" of $2,000,000,000 on the same amount of gold.

If gold prices were run up considerably some financial sources believe money velocity would be increased. People, believing their money was going to lose value rapidly, would hurry to spend that money for goods, with the result that the demand for goods would force prices higher.

Other economists say the present step is only the first of others directed at rising prices. They scout foreign reports that it is directed at early dollar stabilization. One government economist suggests that however real is gold's effect on prices, most of the public evidently believes it is effective and that this government therefore should control the price of gold so that public beliefs shall not be subjected to the whims or the more or less speculative world markets which have been setting gold's price.

Chicago Wrestling Season On Tonight

Chicago, Oct. 25.—(AP)—The Chicago wrestling season opens tonight with Joe Stecher and Jim McMillen headlining a card at the Chicago Stadium.

In one of the preliminaries Pat O'Shocker, who made a big hit with Detroit society, tackles Bronko Nagurski, the Chicago Bears fullback.

The winner of the Stecher-McMillen match has been promised a match with Jim Londos. The stadium has three contracts for Londos' services.

The Fall of Tyre

The fall of Tyre, most important of maritime cities in the hey-day of its fame, added immensely to the reputation of Alexander the Great. But it deprived him of the use of the Phoenician fleet, by which he might have been able to pursue his victories along the Mediterranean coasts, to Carthage, daughter colony of Tyre, and to Spain, Gaul and Britain, conquered by Julius Caesar some two centuries later.

HITLER AGENTS EMPHASIZE HIS AIM FOR PEACE

Whispers About Germany Arming Are Vexatious

Berlin, Oct. 25.—(AP)—The drums of Nazi propaganda have begun to beat throughout the world the praises of the German government. Today the emphasis is on peace; upon Germany's earnest will for amity.

Whispers heard in other lands that Germany is secretly arming that quasi-military target practice is sponsored among storm troopers and that chemists are working out new, destructive gases of war, are particularly vexatious to the Hitler government.

So touchy is Germany on the question of her "secret arming" that one of the largest chemical factories today took a group of foreign correspondents through its plant to demonstrate that no poisonous gases were being manufactured.

Emphasizes Campaign As a corollary to her slogan about peaceful intentions, the German foreign propaganda emphasizes its campaign against Bolshevism.

The more this idea is accepted by the outside world, the easier it is to explain Germany's brown marching columns and military discipline.

Every Nazi propagandist dings the idea into the ears of foreigners. It follows, then, that Nazi propaganda is also much concerned with discrediting German emigres abroad, for these deny both Hitlerism's peaceful intentions and the alleged imminence of Communism before Hitler seized power.

Though denying officially that Nazism tries to interfere with the political systems of other countries, the utterances of Hitler and subleaders indicate that Nazism considers itself entrusted with a world mission.

One aspect of this is the display of anti-Semitism, which it tries to popularize in other countries also.

NUIST LEADER TO APPEAL HIS CASE, HE SAYS

Michigan Man Was Found Guilty In Fifty Minutes

Allegan, Mich., Oct. 25.—(AP)—Having lost the first round to a Circuit Court jury of twelve, a Nuiist leader said today he would appeal his conviction and a relentless prosecutor, nudism, as represented by Fred C. Ring and some volunteer aides from the International Nuiist Conference, was preparing today to carry its fight to the state Supreme Court.

The jury deliberated only 50 minutes yesterday afternoon before finding that Ring, a dancing instructor, committed indecent exposure at his nudist camp near here.

Dr. Isley Boone, a Baptist minister and secretary of the International Nuiist Conference, said the conviction was the first in a score of similar cases. His intention of testifying to the benefits of nudism was frustrated by a court ruling that such evidence was incompetent.

Kenneth K. Krippene, Chicago attorney who represented the nudist conference, indicated that an appeal would be taken.

Prosecutor Welborn S. Luma said it was doubtful Mrs. Ring, against whom a similar charge is pending, would be brought to trial at this term of court.

Finds Real Life in Hollywood

Despite all the crosses may say, Hollywood offers actors an opportunity for high artistic success, says Joan Waring, shown above in her latest pose. And success, to Joan, is life. She's living it now, free from the worries of what people might say of her.

WALLACE HOLDS TO HIS THEORY ABOUT TAXATION

Finds Putting Theory Into Practice Presents Difficulty

Washington, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Nothing in presidential declarations on monetary policy has changed the views of Secretary Wallace and other farm adjustment officials that production control is a high road back to agricultural prosperity.

In fact, the Secretary has reiterated that inflation by whatever means accomplished, would not alone solve the problems of the farmer. He has favored controlled inflation but believes even that would not remove the disparity between agricultural prices and industrial prices.

The removal of this disparity is the principal aim of the farm administration and the programs outlined for cotton, wheat, corn, hogs, tobacco and other crops are directed toward that end.

In their essence, the plans for the principal commodities named are simple. The consumer is taxed. The money raised is used to pay the grower for reducing his production. In theory, this holds the price received by the farmer toward the level of those received for industrial products. The production control gets rid of surpluses that have kept prices down.

Complications arose when theory was translated into practice and one of the chief concerns of administration officials now is that their program will be bent out of shape before it really has a chance to show whether it works or not.

HAROLD FOWLER McCORMICK IS SUED BY WOMAN

$1,500,000 Is Asked For Alleged Breach Of Promise

New York, Oct. 25.—(AP)—The praecipe of a suit for $1,500,000 filed against Harold Fowler McCormick, wealthy Chicagoan, by Mrs. Rhoda Tanner Doubleday of New York, will be followed shortly by a declaration charging breach of promise, Henry A. Uthart, Mrs. Doubleday's attorney, said today.

The praecipe is merely a formal notice of intention to seek damages and contains no allegations. It was filed in the Cook County Circuit Court at Chicago yesterday.

Uthart said the declaration would allege that Mrs. Doubleday was introduced to McCormick in Paris two years ago by the Chicagoan's brother, Cyrus H. McCormick, and that during the next year he became her "assiduous devotee."

Claims Ardent Letters Mrs. Doubleday would charge, Uthart said, that McCormick wrote many ardent letters to her, and that, in November, 1932, he made a verbal marriage proposal to her.

The declaration would set forth, said Uthart, that after McCormick underwent a minor operation at Johns Hopkins hospital in Baltimore the following January, his ardor cooled and he wrote Mrs. Doubleday a letter saying they would not be married.

McCormick is the divorced husband of the late Edith Rockefeller McCormick and of Ganna Walska, opera singer. Mrs. Doubleday is the former wife of Felix Doubleday, adopted son of Frank N. Doubleday, New York publisher. 11

GORCH IS FREE OF SUSPICION IN LINDBERGH CASE

Suspect Is Held In Boston On Three Fugitive Writs

Boston, Oct. 25.—(AP)—John Gorch, who was questioned yesterday regarding the kidnaping of the Lindbergh baby, was arraigned in Municipal Court today on three fugitive warrants charging larceny and impersonating a police officer.

He was charged with larceny of $3,050 from Helen Kamisker of New York, impersonating an officer and stealing $200 from Theodore Demchuk of Newark, N. J., and larceny of an undetermined amount from Mary Butryan of Hudson City, N. J.

New Jersey and New York police came to Boston yesterday and questioned Gorch about the Lindbergh kidnaping but after a long interrogation said they believed he had no connection with the case.

Gorch at first was believed to bear a resemblance to the "John" who collected the $50,000 Lindbergh ransom from Dr. John "Jafie" Condon. Condon, however, has denied he is the man, and Police Lieut. James Finn of New York expressed to his superiors a conviction that Gorch had nothing to do with the kidnaping.

Finn, former bodyguard to Col. Lindbergh, questioned Gorch here. New York police were going ahead with a plan to open Gorch's safe deposit box there to check up his affairs.

Forgotten Sweetheart

BEGIN HERE TODAY
JOAN WARING, pretty Memphis girl, and BOB WESTON, son of a New York millionaire, meet and fall in love. The romance progresses happily until they are invited to a house party. Then, through the scheming of BARBARA COURTNEY who is trying to win Bob, Joan and Bob become estranged.

MEANWHILE, PAT WARING, Joan's younger sister, is in an automobile accident and JERRY FORRESTER, her escort, is killed. It becomes known that they were returning from a night club and that Jerry had been drinking. Bob's father reads about the accident and asks his son to give up Joan.

PAT runs away to New York. Joan follows, searching for her sister and also for a job to enable her to remain in New York. She is engaged as a masked singer at a night club owned by BARNEY BLAKE, who proves a steadfast friend.

Pat is discharged from the wholehouse house where she worked as a model. She hunts for another job without success. Joan makes her first appearance as a cabaret singer and is a big success.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXIV

THERE was a ripple of approval and then silence as Joan's clear, lovely voice lifted in an old sea chanty. The young figure swayed across the platform in imitation of a veteran tar. At the end of her song, applause rocked the place, rolling thunderously back to the dressing quarters. Barney hurried to meet Joan.

"Atta girl!" he cried. "You're putting it across. Now hurry into that gypsy outfit." Joan flew to her room, returning in a moment. The applause was still continuing—a jaded public's reaction to beauty and the unusual.

Joan, in her yellow and scarlet costume, with her cloudy hair about her shoulders, received another ovation.

"No more songs, Joan. We'll make 'em beg!"

They did beg. And finally Joan sang an encore. A hauntingly sweet gypsy love song, in contrast to the gay, provocative song before.

Other performers crowded around to congratulate her. Bea gave her an impulsive hug, whispering, "How does it feel to be a big hit?" Barney had patted her hands, a light of approval in his eyes.

All of it seemed unreal to Joan. An hour before she had been Joan Waring, struggling for composure, standing on the verge of an adventure. Now she was on an equal footing with these other entertainers. She was a cabaret singer! The transition had been made with a costume, expert make-up and a little black mask.

Barney was laughing exultantly. "You made them sit up, didn't you? Little singer of songs. Joan, there must have been a lad who loved the new among your ancestors and a gypsy lass who lured men with her grace and sweet singing, Marie, my dear. I am a rank materialist, proposing to commercialize it."

They had a midnight supper to "celebrate." On the way to Joan's hotel Barney told her she would be advertised now as "the mystery woman," and the "Girl with the Mask." And then watch her fan mail grow!

HE LOOKED about the unpretentious hotel lobby, frowning a little. Then grinned. "Who ever heard of a cabaret singer in a place like this?" he asked.

"I like it," Joan said. "It's quiet. I can think here!"

PHILANTHROPIES OF SAM INSULL CITED IN COURT

Urged As Reason He Should Not Be Extradited To U. S.

Athens, Oct. 25.—(AP)—The Philanthropies of Samuel Insull—his charities and his extensive contributions to art—were urged today as among the reasons he should not be extradited to the United States. A packed court room heard the Insull counsel, Christos Ladas, extol the Insull munificences, civic and artistic, last night, and heard him demand to know what good could be accomplished by returning the 74-year-old man to America to face charges resulting from the collapse of his vast utilities holdings.

The court fight against extradition, which has aroused great interest in Athens, was continued to Friday.

Toronto, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Martin J. Insull, brother of Samuel Insull,

Named Again in Magdalen Role

"Who ever heard of a cabaret singer thinking?" Barney retorted. Joan laughed at him.

As Barney had foreseen, the masked idea, handled "differently," was enthusiastically received by night club patrons. No detail was overlooked. Discriminating selection of Joan's songs, her costumes, all played a part. And then there was her lovely voice.

A gossip columnist started the rumor that the masked cabaret singer was from the Orient, declaring there was certainly something oriental in her slender hands and the wistful melancholy quality in her voice.

Barney was shrewdly capitalizing such speculation. Reports, carefully circulated, were heard that the mask hid a scarred face, the result of an accident. There were other reports that the singer was a member of an impoverished family of Russia, earning a living with her wonderful voice, yet proudly withholding her identity.

A youthful fan had written to Joan, "I hear you drive an especially built, imported car. Is that true? And do you drink only champagne, wear your dresses once and bathe in a marble pool?"

"Tell her 'yes,'" Barney laughed. "And add that your Pekingeses have real diamonds in his collar and a special chef cooks his food."

"She'd be surprised to know how little it costs me to live," Joan said.

They were having dinner together again. Barney leaned across the table, "Joan," he said, "I want to talk to you about that place where you're living. I think you should move."

Joan wouldn't hear to it, she said. She was comfortable. Why should she move? She explained about Benny then. He was improving steadily under a specialist's care. The generous salary Barney was paying her had made this possible.

Barney told her then about his stepmother. She had been sharing an apartment on Park Avenue with him, but he found it necessary to move to a hotel near the night club. It was more convenient and practical to be near his business. He had been racking his brain, wondering what he would do about his mother. She didn't like hotel life.

"It would be doing me a tremendous favor, Joan, if you'd go there to stay. She's quite a darling and has been like my own mother to me. I don't know of anybody I'd rather have with her than you." Barney finally won. He explained that Joan could apply what she spent on the rental. She must remember, too, that it would save him what otherwise must be spent for a paid companion. He brought his mother to see Joan and her cordiality and enthusiasm regarding the plan helped Barney overcome Joan's objections.

Kate came over to see Joan in her magnificent new setting. "Aren't you the luckiest girl in the world?" she breathed.

Kate was impressed by the arrangement of the elaborate suite of rooms which provided two living rooms.

"Isn't this hot!" she exclaimed. "Almost like having your own apartment—private sitting room and private bath."

"His mother wanted her quarters

entirely separate. She entertains a lot," Joan explained. "Yet it's all one big apartment."

"Just swell, if you ask me," said Kate, taking in the rich surroundings. "And the answer to a modern marriage for husbands who object to meeting their wives three times a day at the table. Joan, do you know you are lucky?"

"Of course."

"Not everybody has such breaks," Kate said thoughtfully. "I know a girl here in New York who came to 'make good' in the big city and got a tough deal if anyone ever did. She was a model—"

"A model!" said Joan. Whenever she heard the word she thought of Pat and something tightened about her heart.

"A little blond blizzard who worked in a wholesale house and was taking the place by storm. Jane Johnson, a model I've known for years, told me about her. I think she came from the south, too."

"GO ON," said Joan, trying to control her voice.

"Well, it seems this girl had a way with men. Just naturally good looking and wearing her clothes like nobody's business. One of the firm's best buyers, a prize pest according to Jane, saw this girl and almost had apoplexy. The manager had to fix up a date to cure him. He took the girl out, but no sooner had they reached the place than the girl threw his soup back at him, you might say, and faded out of the picture."

Kate stopped, her eyes on Joan's white, intent face.

"Please go on," said Joan. "What happened then?"

"Oh, the girl was fired, of course. You see the buyer was a big shot and he cancelled his order. The kid started hunting for another job. Plenty of luck, but poor food—and little of it, I guess—and tramping around in all kinds of weather. Well, she got pneumonia."

"Jane was over last night with a girl who used to stay with this kid. They said the landlady and a doctor were doing all they could, but Jane didn't think they could do much."

"Kate!" Joan cried. "Hurry! Get that place over the phone and ask your friend for the address. Wait—first let me use the phone!"

She called Barney. "Oh, Barney," she said, "can you come? Kate has just told me about a model, a girl from the south, who's very ill. Oh, Barney, you'll hurry!"

Barney's reassuring voice came back. "I'm leaving at once. But remember, Joan, there are thousands of models in New York and lots of them from the south."

"I know that Barney, but I'm so frightened—"

Kate, amazement in her eyes, picked up the telephone and called Jane. "That sick girl you told me about—where's she staying? A friend of mine is going out to see her."

She repeated the address carefully. Joan, hat on, scribbled it down and flew from the room on her way down to meet Barney. She had not thought to ask Kate to find out the model's name.

It was foolish to feel so frightened. There was not a chance in a hundred that the little blond blizzard might be Pat.

HITLER AGENTS EMPHASIZE HIS AIM FOR PEACE

Whispers About Germany Arming Are Vexatious

Berlin, Oct. 25.—(AP)—The drums of Nazi propaganda have begun to beat throughout the world the praises of the German government. Today the emphasis is on peace; upon Germany's earnest will for amity.

Whispers heard in other lands that Germany is secretly arming, that quasi-military target practice is sponsored among storm troopers and that chemists are working out new, destructive gases of war, are particularly vexatious to the Hitler government.

So touchy is Germany on the question of her "secret arming" that one of the largest chemical factories today took a group of foreign correspondents through its plant to demonstrate that no poisonous gases were being manufactured.

Emphasizes Campaign
As a corollary to her slogan about peaceful intentions, the German foreign propaganda emphasizes its campaign against Bolshevism.

The more this idea is accepted by the outside world, the easier it is to explain Germany's brown marching columns and military discipline.

Every Nazi propagandist dings the idea into the ears of foreigners.

It follows, then, that Nazi propaganda is also much concerned with discrediting German emigres abroad, for these deny both Hitlerism's peaceful intentions and the alleged imminence of Communism before Hitler seized power.

Though denying officially that Nazism tries to interfere with the political systems of other countries, the utterances of Hitler and subleaders indicate that Nazism considers itself entrusted with a world mission.

One aspect of this is the display of anti-Semitism, which it tries to popularize in other countries also.

NUDIST LEADER TO APPEAL HIS CASE, HE SAYS

Michigan Man Was Found Guilty In Fifty Minutes

Allegan, Mich., Oct. 25.—(AP)—Having lost the first round to a Circuit Court jury of middle aged men and a relentless prosecutor, nudism, as represented by Fred C. Ring and some volunteer aides from the International Nudist Conference, was preparing today to carry its fight to the state Supreme Court.

The jury deliberated only 50 minutes yesterday afternoon before finding that Ring, a dancing instructor, committed indecent exposure at his nudist camp near here.

Dr. Irvin Boone, a Baptist minister and secretary of the International Nudist Conference, said the conviction was the first in a score of similar cases. His intention of testifying to the benefits of nudism was frustrated by a court ruling that such evidence was incompetent.

Kenneth K. Krippene, Chicago attorney who represented the nudist conference, indicated that an appeal would be taken.

Prosecutor Welborne S. Luna said it was doubtful if Mrs. Ring, against whom a similar charge is pending, would be brought to trial at this time of court.

WALLACE HOLDS TO HIS THEORY ABOUT TAXATION

Finds Putting Theory Into Practice Presents Difficulty

Washington, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Nothing in presidential declarations on monetary policy has changed the views of Secretary Wallace and other farm adjustment officials that production control is a high road back to agricultural prosperity.

In fact, the Secretary has reiterated that inflation, by whatever means accomplished, would not alone solve the problems of the farmer. He has favored controlled inflation but believes even that would not remove the disparity between agricultural prices and industrial prices.

The removal of this disparity is the principal aim of the farm administration and the programs outlined for cotton, wheat, corn, hogs, tobacco and other crops are directed toward that end.

In their essence, the plans for the principal commodities named are simple. The consumer is taxed. The money raised is used to pay the grower for reducing his production. In theory, this hoists the price received by the farmer toward the level of those received for industrial products. The production control gets rid of surpluses that have kept prices down.

Complications arose when theory was translated into practice and one of the chief concerns of administration officials now is that their program will be bent out of shape before it really has a chance to show whether it works or not.

HAROLD FOWLER McCORMICK IS SUED BY WOMAN

$1,500,000 Is Asked For Alleged Breach Of Promise

New York, Oct. 25.—(AP)—The praecipe of a suit for $1,500,000 filed against Harold Fowler McCormick, wealthy Chicagoan, by Mrs. Rhoda Tanner Doubleday of New York, will be followed shortly by a declaration charging breach of promise, Henry A. Uterhart, Mrs. Doubleday's attorney, said today.

The praecipe is merely a formal notice of intention to seek damages and contains no allegations. It was filed in the Cook County Circuit Court at Chicago yesterday.

Uterhart said the declaration would allege that Mrs. Doubleday was introduced to McCormick in Paris two years ago by the Chicagoan's brother, Cyrus H. McCormick, and that during the next year she became her "assiduous devotee."

Claims Ardent Letters
Mrs. Doubleday would charge, Uterhart said, that McCormick wrote many ardent letters to her, and that, in November, 1932, he made a verbal marriage proposal to her.

The declaration would set forth, said Uterhart, that after McCormick underwent a minor operation at Johns Hopkins hospital in Baltimore the following January, his ardor cooled and he wrote Mrs. Doubleday a letter saying they would not be married.

McCormick is the divorced husband of the late Edith Rockefeller McCormick and of Ganna Walska, opera singer. Mrs. Doubleday is the former wife of Felix J. Doubleday, adopted son of Frank N. Doubleday, New York publisher.

GORCH IS FREE OF SUSPICION IN LINDBERGH CASE

Suspect Is Held In Boston On Three Fugitive Writs

Boston, Oct. 25.—(AP)—John Gorch, who was questioned yesterday regarding the kidnaping of the Lindbergh baby, was arraigned in Municipal Court today on three fugitive warrants charging larceny and impersonating a police officer.

He was charged with larceny of $3,050 from Helen Kamiski of New York, impersonating an officer and stealing $200 from Theodore Demchuk of Newark, N. J., and larceny of an undetermined amount from Mary Butryan of Hudson City, N. J.

New Jersey and New York police came to Boston yesterday and questioned Gorch about the Lindbergh kidnaping but after a long interrogation said they believed he had no connection with the case.

Gorch at first was believed to bear a resemblance to the "John" who collected the $50,000 Lindbergh ransom from Dr. John "Jafie" Condon. Condon, however, has denied he is the man, and Police Lieut. James Finn of New York expressed to his superiors a conviction that Gorch had nothing to do with the kidnaping.

Finn, former bodyguard to Col. Lindbergh, questioned Gorch here. New York police were going ahead with a plan to open Gorch's safe deposit box there to check up on his affairs.

Forgotten Sweetheart

BEGIN HERE TODAY

JOAN WARING, pretty Memphis girl, and BOB WESTON, son of a New York millionaire, meet and fall in love. The romance progresses happily until they are invited to a house party there, through the scheming of BARBARA COURTNEY who is trying to win Bob, Joan and Bob become estranged.

Meanwhile PAT WARING, Joan's younger sister, is in an automobile accident and JERRY FORRESTER, her escort, is killed. It becomes known that they were returning from a night club and that Jerry had been drinking. Bob's father reads about the accident and asks his son to give up Joan.

Pat runs away to New York. Joan follows, searching for her sister and also for a job to enable her to remain in New York. She is engaged to a masked singer at a night club owned by BARNEY BLAKE, who proves a steadfast friend.

Pat is discharged from the whole house where she worked as a model. She hunts for another job without success. Joan makes her first appearance as a cabaret singer and is a big success.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXIV

THERE was a ripple of approval and then silence as Joan's clear, lovely voice lifted in an old sea chanty. The young figure swayed across the platform in imitation of a veteran tar. At the end of her song, applause rocked the place, rolling thunderously back to the dressing quarters. Barney hurried to meet Joan.

"Atta girl!" he cried. "You're putting it across. Now hurry into that gypsy outfit." Joan flew to her room, returning in a moment. The applause was still continuing—a jaded public's reaction to beauty and the unusual.

Joan, in her yellow and scarlet costume, with her cloudy hair about her shoulders, received another ovation.

"No more songs, Joan. We'll make 'em beg!"

They did beg. And finally Joan sang an encore. A hauntingly sweet gypsy love song, in contrast to the gay, provocative song before. Other performers crowded around to congratulate her. Bob gave her an impulsive hug, whispering, "How does it feel to be a big hit?" Barney had patted her hands, a light of approval in his eyes.

All of it seemed unreal to Joan. An hour before she had been Joan Waring, struggling for composure, standing on the verge of an adventure. Now she was on an equal footing with these other entertainers. She was a cabaret singer! The transition had been made with a costume, expert make-up and a little black mask.

Barney was laughing exultantly. "You made them sit up, didn't you? Little singer of songs, Joan, there must have been a lad who loved the sea among your ancestors and a gypsy lass who lured men with her grace and sweet singing, Magie, my dear. I am a rank materialist, proposing to commercialize it."

They had a midnight supper to "celebrate." On the way to Joan's hotel Barney told her she would be advertised now as "the mystery woman," and the "Girl with the Mask." And then watch her fan mail grow!

HE LOOKED about the unpretentious hotel lobby, frowning a little. Then grinned. "Who ever heard of a cabaret singer in a place like this?" he asked. "I like it," Joan said. "It's quiet. I can think here?"

PHILANTHROPIES OF SAM INSULL CITED IN COURT

Named Again in Magdalen Role

Brown shirts of the Nazi regime have replaced the patriarchal robes of Oberammergau, scene of the Passion Play, and the Hitler salute is the greeting to visitors in the far-famed Bavarian town. But the "new day" means little to Klara Mayr, above, for her thoughts are centered on her portrayal of the role of Mary Magdalen in the next Passion Play. In the recent election, she was chosen again for the part which she played in 1930.

"Who ever heard of a cabaret singer thinking?" Barney retorted. Joan laughed at him.

As Barney had foreseen, the masked idea, handled "differently," was enthusiastically received by night club patrons. No detail was overlooked. Discriminating selection of Joan's songs, her costumes, all played a part. And then there was her lovely voice.

A gossip columnist started the rumor that the masked cabaret singer was from the Orient, declaring there was certainly something oriental in her slender hands and the wistful melancholy quality in her voice.

Barney was shrewdly capitalizing such speculation. Reports, carefully circulated, were heard that the mask hid a scarred face, the result of an accident. There were other reports that the singer was a member of an impoverished family of Russia, earning a living with her wonderful voice, yet proudly withholding her identity.

A youthful fan had written to Joan, "I hear you drive an especially built, imported car. Is that true? And do you drink only champagne, wear your dresses once and bathe in a marble pool?"

"Tell her 'yes,'" Barney laughed. "And add that your Pekingese has real diamonds in his collar and a special chef cooks his food."

"She'd be surprised to know how little it costs me to live," Joan said.

They were having dinner together again. Barney leaned across the table. "Joan," he said, "I want to talk to you about that place where you're living. I think you should move."

Joan wouldn't hear to it, she said. She was comfortable. Why should she move? She explained about Benny then. He was improving steadily under a specialist's care. The generous salary Barney was paying her had made this possible.

Barney told her then about his stepmother. She had been sharing an apartment on Park Avenue with him, but he found it necessary to move to a hotel near the night club. It was more convenient and practicable to be near his business. He had been racking his brain, wondering what he would do about his mother. She didn't like hotel life.

"It would be doing me a tremendous favor, Joan, if you'd go there to stay. She's quite a darling and has been like my own mother to me. I don't know of anybody I'd rather have with her than you."

Barney finally won. He explained that Joan could apply what she spent on the rental. She must remember, too, that it would save him what otherwise must be spent for a paid companion. He brought his mother to see Joan and her cordiality and enthusiasm regarding the plan helped Barney overcome Joan's objections.

Kate came over to see Joan in her magnificent new setting. "Aren't you the luckiest girl in the world?" she breathed.

Kate was impressed by the arrangement of the elaborate suite of rooms which provided two living rooms.

"Isn't this hot!" she exclaimed. "Almost like having your own apartment—private sitting room and private bath."

"His mother wanted her quarters

entirely separate. She entertains a lot," Joan explained. "Yet it's all one big apartment."

"Just swell, if you ask me," said Kate, taking in the rich surroundings. "And the answer to a modern marriage for husbands who object to meeting their wives three times a day at the table. Joan, do you know you are lucky?"

"Of course."

"Not everybody has such breaks," Kate said thoughtfully. "I know a girl here in New York who came to 'make good' in the big city and got a tough deal if anyone ever did. She was a model—"

"A model?" said Joan. When ever she heard the word she thought of Pat and something tightened about her heart.

"A little blond blizzard who worked in a wholesale house and was taking the place by storm. Jane Johnson, a model I've known for years, told me about her. I think she came from the south, too."

"GO ON," said Joan, trying to control her voice.

"Well, it seems this girl had a way with men. Just naturally good looking and wearing her clothes like nobody's business. One of the firm's best buyers, a prize pest according to Jane, saw this girl and almost had apoplexy. The manager had to fix up a date to cure him. He took the girl out, but no sooner had they reached the place than the girl threw his soup back at him, you might say, and faded out of the picture."

Kate stopped, her eyes on Joan's white, intent face. "Please go on," said Joan. "What happened then?"

"Oh, the girl was fired, of course. You see the buyer was a big shot and he cancelled his order. The kid started hunting for another job. Plenty of pluck, but poor food—and little of it, I guess—and tramping around in all kinds of weather. Well, she got pneumonia."

"Jane was over last night with a girl who used to stay with this kid. They said the landlady and a doctor were doing all they could, but Jane didn't think they could do much."

"Kate!" Joan cried. "Hurry! Get that place over the phone and ask your friend for the address. Wait—first let me use the phone!"

She called Barney. "Oh, Barney," she said, "can you come? Kate has just told me about a model, a girl from the south, who's very ill. Oh, Barney, you'll hurry!"

Barney's reassuring voice came back. "I'm leaving at once. But remember, Joan, there are thousands of models in New York and lots of them from the south."

Republican Winner Joe Daviess County States Attorneyship Tuesday

Reversal Of Public Opinion Seen In Tuesday's Poll

Completely reversing the trend of last November's elections, a Republican candidate came through in Tuesday's special election to name a state's attorney for Joe Daviess county and carried all but four of the county's twenty-seven precincts in a contest watched from Chicago to Cairo as a possible indication of the pending congressional and legislative races.

The winner was Donald M. Eaton, youthful Stockton lawyer, a world war veteran and a novice in office. He won over Louis A. Nack of Cairo, Democrat, by a margin of 1151 votes in a contest which brought 6652 Joe Daviess county residents to the polls—a vote called by political experts 75 per cent of the normal presidential year vote in spite of the fact that on other issue was decided.

The unofficial total vote was: Eaton, 3862; Nack, 2711. A canvassing board will work out the final totals today, then mail their result to Springfield and by the end of the week a commission is expected to arrive filling formally for the first time since last June 15 the post of state's attorney in this county. The post was vacated then by Frank T. Sheehan after he had been elected circuit judge.

Party Battle
The state's attorney race was fought out on strictly party lines with the county central committee of both major parties throwing their entire strength behind their respective entries. The Republican organization, spurred by the defeat of their state's attorney candidate in the last November election by a margin of 1900 votes, carried the drive into every precinct and hamlet. The result is expected to hearten Republicans throughout the state, who have been watching the Joe Daviess ballot as the first real party test, aside from the judicial elections since last November.

Several normally strong Democratic precincts were swept to the Eaton standard in the balloting and only in Dunleith, Menominee, Vinegar Hill and West Galena No. 1 precincts were the Democrats able to hold their own. Galena, as a whole, went to Eaton by 141 votes, although it is normally considered Democratic territory.

The election was made necessary after the state's attorney elected last November, Frank T. Sheehan, was elected to the circuit bench in June. He resigned June 15 and Attorney General Otto Kerner ruled that a primary and election would be necessary to fill the post. Eaton was nominated in the Republican primary and Nack's name was written in to give him the Democratic nomination.
